★ WHEN TO CALL THE LLM (AND WHEN NOT TO) ★

Claude is a tool, not a toy — calls cost money and time. Know which action triggers one.

◆ CALL THE LLM WHEN...

- You've configured a new league (once)
- Data refresh is needed (new injury, new ECR) — day before draft
- It's YOUR PICK in a live draft — auto-called, get 3 AI targets
- You tap "Why?" on any recommendation — on-demand explanation
- Mid-draft pivot suggestion — "should I switch from Zero-RB?"
- Adding a natural-language custom rule (Claude parses it)
- Final post-draft analysis — grade, timeline, roast
- Trash Talk alerts during live draft (auto, micro-calls)

! DON'T CALL THE LLM WHEN...

- You're just browsing the Draft Board — no call, cached data
- Filtering by position — local filter, no call
- Expanding a player card for Tactical Insight — already cached
- Reviewing a saved Research Run — replay, no new call
- Re-running research multiple times "just in case"
- Between picks on others' turns — wait for your turn
- Checking leaderboard during draft — passive, no call
- Settings tweaks — saved locally until you re-run research

PRO: learn muscle memory before draft

! COMMON MISTAKES TO AVOID

- Running full research 10 mins before draft
Do it day before. Day-of = quick refresh only.
- Ignoring confidence % when picking
60% ≠ 94% — read the number, don't just pick #1
- Not verifying scoring settings
PPR vs standard shifts 40% of the board
- Panic-pivoting on every alert
Trust your strategy until data says otherwise
- Dismissing Trash Talk as noise
It's real-time opponent weakness intel
- Forgetting keepers / not marking them

◆ AUCTION VS SNAKE

- AUCTION (Joe · ESPN)
  - Card shows $ value + $68-$76 range
  - Budget pace line vs $200 cap
  - Nomination helper (strategic "throw-ins")
  - Inflation tracker (market above/below value)
- SNAKE (Tyler · Yahoo · keeper)
  - Card shows ADP + round target
  - Tier cliff warnings ("2 RB1s left")
  - Snake clock position (3.7 = 3rd rd, 7th pick)
  - Keeper cost integration (round penalty)
  - ADP delta on every rec (steal / reach math)
